

Contact linguistics: A Symposium in honor of Prof. Wolfgang Wölck

Saturday, September 22, 2011
University at Buffalo
Park Hall 280

9:00–9:15

Coffee

9:15–9:30

Opening remarks

Jean-Pierre Koenig, Chair, Department of Linguistics

Stephen C. Dunnett, Vice Provost for International Education

9:30–10:00

The sociolinguistic profile born in Peru travels to Europe with Wolfgang Wölck

Utta von Gleich, Universität Hamburg

10:00–10:30

Diffusion of an ethnolect: The case of Peruvian Andean Spanish

Anna Maria Escobar, University of Illinois

10:30–11:00

Coffee Break

11:00–11:40

Migrant minority voices:

Language attitudes and transmission among Catalan speakers in NYC

Eva Juarros-Daussà, University at Buffalo

11:40–12:10

Relevance of the community profiles in the context of community disinterest for language revitalization

Gabriela Perez-Baez, Smithsonian Institution

12:10–1:30

Lunch

1:30–2:10

Indonesia's national language policy: A rare success

Scott Paauw, University of Rochester

2:10–2:50

Contact linguistics and the development of a language policy for the European Union

Jeroen Darquennes, Université de Namur

2:50–3:15

Coffee Break

3:15–3:55

Case study of a diglossic bilingual

Annick De Houwer, Universität Erfurt

3:55–4:15

Forty-two

Eta I. Schneiderman, University of Ottawa